The Rudest Things You Should Never Do on the Golf Course

There are 35 rudest things and I will be reminding you of them in the coming months. Here is the next set. NEVER:

26. Not Take Honors on the Tee Box

Unless playing ready golf has clearly been established, if you have honors, you've earned it. You should be able to enjoy it.

27. Stand in another golfer's line of sight

A few steps off to the side makes all the difference.

28. Congratulate someone on making a putt before they do

Specifically, if the ball ends up missing. Just wait a few extra seconds and save yourself an awkward situation.

29. Not let the next group play through

There's actually no upside to not letting faster groups play through. Just do it.

30. Eye up putts for too long

You're not playing the Masters — and it's probably not helping you that much anyway.

My golf thought for the month is from Bobby Jones: "Golf is the closest game to the game we call life. You get bad breaks from good shots; you get good breaks from bad shots, but you have to play the ball where it lies.

See you at the November 1 luncheon!
